Continue Denials Progress Made On Viet Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger has delivered a personal report to President Nixon on his latest talks with North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris, but the administration is standing by its statement that no peace settlement has been reached.

Nixon returned to Washington from a West Coast campaign tour Thursday night and rendezvoused with his national security adviser at a dinner meeting on board the presidential yacht.

The White House kept silent about the report Nixon received from Kissinger, who returned Wednesday night after two days in Paris for his 18th session with the North Vietnamese delegates, Xuan Thuy and Le Duc Tho.

Although both the White House and the North Vietnamese denied reports of an imminent agreement to end the war, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird reportedly told a group of Texans that "negotiations with North Vietnam are more serious than they have ever been."

Laird met privately Thursday in Fort Worth with families of American soldiers held prisoners or missing in action in Vietnam.

The Fort Worth Star-

Telegram said it learned from several present at the session that Laird expressed regrets about the rumors that Kissinger's meetings led to a settlement.

"I know how your hopes must go up and down with each story," he was quoted as saying. "Hang on... this is an important time."

In a Fort Worth speech and news conference earlier Thursday, Laird said he had "nothing to report" concerning the speculation.

As in the past, the White House declined to discuss Kissinger's latest talks, saying that both sides have agreed to keep silent about the content of Kissinger's private meetings with the North Vietnamese.

In Paris Thursday, the spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation, Nguyen Thanh Le, called reports of an imminent settlement "without foundation and contrary to the truth."

Plea Change Brings Trial For Murder

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Willie Hightower, who was to have been sentenced Thursday on several counts, including two counts of second-degree murder, instead will be going on trial Oct. 10 for first-degree murder, rape, armed robbery and shooting with intent to kill.

When he appeared for sentencing before Common Pleas Court Judge Leo Spellacy, Hightower said he had changed his mind, wanted to withdraw his guilty plea and now wants to stand trial on the original charges.

The judge said he would "do everything I can to convenience you," and set the trial date.

Hightower pleaded guilty last Monday to two counts of second-degree murder, rape, abduction, armed robbery and shooting. Maximum sentence on those charges would have left him eligible for parole in ten years.

One of Hightower's five court-appointed attorneys, Frank Azzarello, said Hightower changed his mind after receiving a letter from a television newsman. Azzarello said Fred Griffith, public affairs director of TV station WEWS, in responding to a letter written him by Hightower, expressed sympathy and offered to send Hightower's letter to the Legal Aid Society.

Griffith could not be reached for comment.

Swing-Wing Jets Return To Viet Combat

SAIGON (AP) — The controversial F111A fighter-bombers returned to combat Thursday for the first time in 4½ years and attacked North Vietnam's northwest rail line and military barracks between Hanoi and the Chinese border, the U.S. Command announced today.

For the fourth successive day Thursday, Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers launched more than 300 strikes across North Vietnam, the command said.

The key raids were made by the F111s, which carry up to 29,000 pounds of bombs, or twice the load that any other fighter-bomber can carry. They were in an area about 55 miles northwest of Hanoi and 100 miles below the Chinese border. The command gave no assessment on the damage they caused.

The Air Force also reported that F4 Phantom jets attacked what it described as a supply facility 28 miles southwest of Hanoi.

North Vietnam alleged that U.S. warplanes "wantonly" attacked the outskirts of Hanoi "causing many civilian casualties including children." It said three U.S. planes had been shot down in two southern provinces of North Vietnam, but made no mention of the fate of the pilots.

The U.S. Command declined comment on the Hanoi allegations, repeating statements that only military installations are targeted.

The command reported no plane losses over North Vietnam. It has a policy of withholding announcement of aircraft losses if search and rescue operations are under way.

In South Vietnam, however, the command announced in a delayed report that a Marine A4 crashed from unknown causes Tuesday and said that the pilot was missing.

1 Dead, 4 Hurt In Gang Shootout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — David K. Wright, 22, of Columbus, was killed and four other men wounded here Thursday night in what police called a shootout between two motorcycle gangs.

Wright's brother, Robert, 20, was in critical condition with a leg wound.

Charged with first degree murder was Theodore Meaige, 24, of Columbus, hospitalized with a leg wound and head cuts. Also wounded was Dante L. Marasco, 19, and John A. Pearce, 22, both of Columbus.

A murder warrant was issued for Joy Roy Travis, 24, of Mt. Sterling, police said.

Rise In Serious Crime Slowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says serious crime during the first half of the year increased 1 per cent over the same period in 1971. The increase was the smallest since the FBI began issuing quarterly reports 12 years ago.

By comparison, said Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, serious crime increased 7 per cent during the first 180 days of 1971; violent crime was up 11 per cent and property crime up 6 per cent. He said the increase in both violent and property crimes during the first six months of 1972 was 1 per cent.

The crime statistics released by the Justice Department were compiled by the FBI in its Uniform Crime Report through information received voluntarily from 5,606 local, county and state law-enforcement agencies. In the report, murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault make up the violent-crime category and burglary, larceny over $50 and auto theft comprise the property category.

Forcible rape during the six-month period showed a 14-per cent increase, by far the largest rise in any of the seven crimes on which the statistics are gathered. Aggravated assault, showing the second highest increase, was up 6 per cent over the same period last year.

The other crimes: property crimes, up 1 per cent; murder, up 1 per cent; burglary, up 4 per cent; larceny $50 and over, up 1 per cent; robbery, down 4 per cent, and auto theft, down 4 per cent.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI Uniform Crime Report for the first half of 1972 showed Columbus and Parma had the most decreases in the seven major crime categories among Ohio's nine largest cities.

Meanwhile, Canton and Dayton showed the biggest increases.

The categories include murder, forcible rape, robbery aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft.

The findings are based on a comparison of crime statistics for the first six months of 1971 and 1972. They are contained in the FBI's nationwide collection of police statistics supplied by voluntarily by local, county and state law enforcement agencies (Continued on Page 2)

Reeves Cited In Fatal Crash

Charges were filed Thursday against Perry A. Reeves, 18, Route 1, as a result of the fatal accident Saturday night in which two 15-year-old Circleville girls were killed.

Circleville Police Sgt. Wes Barton filed charges of speed greater than was reasonable and proper without due regard to the wet surface and two counts of vehicular homicide in the second degree.

Attorney William Stanhope of Chillicothe, who is representing Reeves, entered a plea of not guilty in Circleville Municipal Court this morning.

The trial has been set for 1:30 p.m. Nov. 2 in municipal court. The fatal accident occurred on N. Pickaway St. when Reeves' car struck a utility pole at the entrance to Berger Hospital.

New State Department In Operation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new Ohio Department of Transportation officially began operation today with J. Phillip Richley at the helm.

Richley, who has headed the Department of Highways since 1970, was elevated to the new $27,339-a-year transportation director post Thursday by Gov. John Gilligan.

The governor, in announcing the appointment at a dinner said Richley's "background gives him the broadest outlook needed to coordinate the many and varied transportation activities this department will engage in."

With tongue in cheek, Gilligan introduced the 46-year-old former Mahoning County engineer as the "greatest transportation department director Ohio has ever had."

Gilligan said Richley's work was instrumental in getting approval by the 109th General Assembly of legislation to create the Transportation Department.

The old highways department now is a division of the transportation department, along with the divisions of transportation planning and urban mass transit.

Although the Division of Aviation was not made a part of the department in the bill enacted by the legislature, a table of organization put out by the highways agency lists it among the new branches.

A spokesman said it will remain there, for all practical purposes, and "there will be a proposal to put it in the DOT the next session." Gilligan has indicated he can operate it under Richley by executive order.

Dispute Over Crime Data Injected Into Vote Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The FBI's new report on the nation's crime rate has been injected into the 1972 presidential campaign.

After the report was issued Thursday, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern asserted: "Under the Nixon administration, the basic problems behind high crime rates have not been solved. They have worsened."

While President Nixon did not respond to McGovern's comments, two administration officials did. Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman contended that McGovern was "dramatically haywire" in his crime figures.

The report, the FBI's Uniform Crime Report, said serious crime in the country was up 1 per cent for the first six months of this year compared to the same period in 1971.

But McGovern said: "This does not come close to telling the whole story. For every crime that is reported, there are two that are not reported, according to President Johnson's Crime Commission."

The South Dakota senator, who cut short his campaign plans to relax today at his farmhouse at St. Michaels, Md., said crime has increased 33 per cent and drug addiction has doubled in the last three years.

Atty. Gen. Richard G.

Kleindienst, in a speech to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, attacked critics of the crime-reporting system.

"The myth-makers have decided that since the figures just do not bear out their point of view anymore, they will tell us that the figures are mistaken," Kleindienst said.

"They tell us that a lot of crimes are not reported to the police, and the answer to that is that this is nothing new—some crimes have always gone unreported."

Flying back to Washington from Los Angeles with Nixon, Ehrlichman disputed McGovern's report that serious crimes increased 33 per cent over the last three years.

Asked by newsmen what the figure should be, Ehrlichman said there had been a 20-per cent decline. But with more questioning, it developed that McGovern and Ehrlichman were talking about two different sets of statistics.

However, questioned by newsmen, Ehrlichman checked and reported that the 1969-72 hike in the number of serious crimes had been 19 per cent. "McGovern's statistic was misleading as well as wrong," he said.

Corona Mass Murder Trial Gets Started In California

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Opening arguments begin today in the murder trial of Juan V. Corona, accused of killing 25 itinerant farm workers and burying them in the lush fruit orchards along the Feather River last year.

For six hours the prosecution will recite its circumstantial case against the 38-year-old Mexican national, Sutter County Dist. Atty. G. Dave Teja said Thursday.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Patton confirmed the circumstantial nature of the case when he ascertained in court earlier this week that the prosecution had no one to put forward to say he had actually seen Corona assaulting any of the victims.

The victims were lonely men—some drifters, some winos, some whose names are still unknown—who wandered the California migrant farm trail.

Corona, a farm labor contractor, is married and the father of four children. His priest calls him "an exemplary father and a fine Christian." He neither smokes nor drinks alcohol. He pleaded innocent.

News of the killings began to trickle from the rich, Sutter County farmland near Yuba City shortly after rancher Gori Kagahiro discovered what appeared to be a grave in his orchard. Deputies dug up the body of Kenneth E. Whitacre.

In the 16 days from May 21 to June 5, 1971, 25 bodies were found, most of them on the Jack Sullivan Ranch five miles north of Yuba City. Corona was arrested on May 26.

Undersheriff Frank Cartocelli said of the victims, "Most of the back of their heads were hacked up, and they were all stabbed in the chest area."

Sutter County Sheriff Roy Whiteaker said searchers of Corona's home turned up a bolo machete with an 18-inch blade, a hatchet, a meat-cleaver, double-edge ax, a butcher knife, a wooden club with stains on it and a 9mm pistol with shells.

The Newark-based firm once had 80 stores in Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky. Since encountering financial difficulties, it has closed down 20 stores and sold another.

Roundtown

CIRCLEVILLE High School Band Director Gary Dean was a busy person today, trying to round up 160 identical rain coats for band members to wear when they perform at halftime of the Circleville-Washington C. H. football game at Washington tonight.

AFTER publishing the county's total share of federal revenue funds and the distribution in Thursday's edition of The Herald, we discovered things didn't add up... The total was $473,996... Of that, the County was to receive $225,536, the townships $139,352 and the city $74,889, a total of $439,777... So we started checking on the remaining $34,219 and discovered that it apparently will be divided among the remaining incorporated villages in the county...

Apparently a rather complicated formula based on the wealth of a community, local tax effort and population is used in figuring the federal revenue sharing funds.

POWs Home; New Sounds Of Discord Heard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dressed in military uniforms and wearing combat decorations, three American prisoners of war have returned to the United States, separated from the peace group that escorted them from Hanoi and scattered to different parts of the country.

The arrival at New York's Kennedy International Airport Thursday night ended a 12-day trip that was followed with political controversy at home.

The end of the trip, however, did not bring an end to the dissension. The three POWs had rejected offers to turn themselves over to U.S. government officials at various points along their journey, which included stops in Peking, Moscow and Copenhagen. One of the three, Maj. Edward Elias, said aboard the plane that he felt they had fulfilled the conditions of release set by Hanoi by remaining with their accompanying peace group.

Elias, 34, an Air Force officer held prisoner for five months, joined his family and flew to Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala., aboard a military C9 medical-evacuation plane, the Defense Department said.

The other two men are Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark Gartley, 24, a prisoner for four years, and Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Charles, 27, captive nine months.

Gartley went to a family reunion at the U.S. Naval Hospital at St. Albans in New York City, the department said. Charles met with his family in New York and then flew to a naval hospital in San Diego aboard another C9, officials said.

Cora Weiss said she and the other three chaperones, David T. Dellinger, 56, Richard A. Falk, 41, and the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., had been deceived by Elias. She said the major had indicated antiwar sentiments in Hanoi only to change his attitude once they departed.

"We have just witnessed a recapture scene, one in captivity replacing another," Mrs. Weiss said after the three men and their families drove away from the airport in government cars.

History Of Light Program At Historical Society

The Pickaway County Historical Society program at its recent meeting was "Man's Progress from Darkness to Light."

The program was given by William Woodward of Canal Winchester. Woodward has spent his life in research and collection of ancient lighting equipment. His interest began when he was given a grease lamp at the age of five. And his collection grew to several hundred items. He recently sold 250 pieces to the Columbus and Southern Electric Co. About 60 items are now on display at the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus.

Woodward illustrated his lecture with slides, showing the most ancient of lamps to modern candle stick holders. Members of the Society were particularly interested in the Kinnear Lamp once made in Circleville which is on display in the Museum.

Woodward commended the society for the successful restoration and furnishing of the museum.

Ralph Woolever, president of the local society, announced a state convention of Ohio Historical Societies will be held Sept. 30 at Cleveland.

He also announced the Van Cleaf histories are still available and may be reserved by contacting Mrs. Don Miller Sr. or any of the society's officers.

Several members of the society helped in collecting and erecting the pioneer display at the dedication of the Scioto Society outdoor theater at Sugar Loaf mountain.

The next meeting of the society will be Nov. 16.

VA Mobile Vans Coming To Circleville

Circleville will be the sixth stop for the two mobile vans manned by veterans service and benefits specialists touring Ohio as part of President Nixon's new National Assistance for Veterans Program.

The vans will be set up at Main and Court Streets Oct. 3 and 4.

Lucius Merritt, VA regional office director in Cleveland, says the new program targets on veterans in their urban and rural home areas. "It's purpose is to help reach veterans who have not made full use of their VA benefits and other veterans' services of the federal government," he said.

"Many veterans are not aware of all the help available to them," Merritt pointed out. "Many benefits are available in home loans, business loans, job help, on-the-job training, education and medical care. In visiting the communities, veterans and their dependents in easy driving distance are invited to bring any problems they may have to the counselors in the vans."

The President's new concept of using vans to "bring the word" to veterans outside the major cities where the government has most of its agencies, located, was begun in Ohio on Sept. 15 at Columbus.

Vietnam veterans are urged to visit the vans for any help or questions they may have, but the vans are also available to veterans and dependents from all wars.

China, Japan Sign Accord

SHANGHAI (AP) — Japan and China established diplomatic relations today and then Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai flew to a staged but tumultuous reception in this port city which 35 years ago felt the Japanese military boot.

The two leaders climaxed a summit conference in Peking this morning with a joint statement announcing that diplomatic ties begin today, that Japan recognizes the People's Republic as the "sole legal government of China" and that negotiations will begin to conclude a treaty of peace and friendship replacing the one Japan signed in 1952 with Chiang Kai-shek's Republic of China on Taiwan.

Within hours after the statement was signed with Chinese writing brushes and toasted in champagne in Peking's Great Hall of the People, Tanaka's treatment, which had been warm but not effusive, underwent an extraordinary change. Several thousand gaily dressed dance, song and music groups from communes, universities, government offices and youth organizations deluged Peking airport with noise and color in a sendoff strikingly different from the coolly correct reception Tanaka received on arrival Monday.

Tanaka made the two-hour flight to Shanghai with Chou in a special flyshin 18 and received a welcome here perhaps more exuberant than the Peking farewell.

Say Mitchell Controlled Spy Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — While serving as attorney general, John N. Mitchell personally controlled a clandestine Republican fund earmarked for gathering intelligence about Democrats. The Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper quoted "several reliable sources" as saying that Mitchell personally approved withdrawals from the fund as early as the spring of 1971, almost a year before he resigned as attorney general to become President Nixon's re-election campaign manager.

Mitchell quit the campaign job in mid-summer and since has served the Nixon campaign only in a behind-the-scenes capacity.

The committee for the Re-election of the President promptly issued a statement denying the Post account.

"There is absolutely no truth to the charges in the Post story," said Powell Moore, the committee's information director.

Although Mitchell was the first controller of the secret fund, four other Nixon associates later were authorized to approve payments from it, the Post said.

The sources identified the four as former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, now finance director for the Nixon campaign; Jeb Stuart Magruder, a former White House aide and now deputy director of the campaign organization; a third person identified only as "a high White House official now involved in the campaign," and a fourth described only as "a campaign aide outside of Washington."

Rail Employees Skip Payday

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Between 800 and 1,000 operating employees of the Toledo Division of Penn Central Railroad are donating their Friday pay to the financially troubled railroad in hopes of forestalling a shutdown and accompanying layoffs.

H. H. Andrews, president of Local 550 of the United Transportation Union, said today the donations are expected to amount to about $40,000, and that they are strictly voluntary.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers also is taking part in the gesture which union officials said originated locally. They said they hoped the idea would spread to the 132,000 system-wide employees of Penn Central.

'Red Tide' Of Toxic Algae Brings U.S. Fish Disaster

BOSTON (AP) — A "red tide" of toxic algae which brought on a ban on the sale and consumption of some shellfish in five New England states two weeks ago has sent an economic shock through the entire fishing industry of the area.

President Nixon declared the Northeast coast a disaster area Thursday and the Small Business Administration and the Office of Emergency Preparedness began gearing up to see what they can do to rescue hard-pressed fishing firms.

Prices for shellfish affected by the ban as well as species which have been declared safe from red tide poisoning have skidded, for fishermen as well as wholesalers and retailers.

"They've cooked it completely," said Al Hook, a partner in the lobster firm of Jants Hook & Co. "Our business has fallen off 60 to 70 per cent."

It is worse in other places, such as the picturesque fishing town of Gloucester, where an estimated 70 per cent of the 27,000 residents depend on the sea for a living.

The original ban applied to all soft-shell and hard-shell clams, to mussels and to scallops. Lobsters, oysters, crabs, shrimp and fin fish were all declared safe. Scallops and hard-shell clams were later removed from the ban in effect in Maine, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

The ban on soft-shell clams and mussels remains in effect, but starting Saturday some areas in southeastern Massachusetts will be opened for the digging of species affected by the red tide.

In addition, state authorities have cleared for retail sales some shellfish which could harbor red tide toxin, after ascertaining they are free of poison.

But fishing industry spokesmen say the red tide, which can cause death to humans who eat contaminated shellfish, was seen by consumers as a general bogey man.

"I've got a plant in Florida—at Miami Springs," Hook said. "It's the same everywhere. People are just frightened."

At Captain Marden's Seafoods in Wellesley, Mass., select lobsters were going for $2.25 a pound when the red tide scare hit. On Thursday the price was $1.69.

Charles Fields, owner of New England Lobster Co. in Rockport, said his business was off about 50 per cent. He said retailers he deals with have dropped the price of lobster to as low as 99 cents a pound in some cases.

Navy Raids

fired upon first or had radar evidence that they were about to be attacked.

The latest apparent conflict arose in separate testimony from William Groeper, a former Navy lieutenant, and Lt. William Moore Jr., now stationed at Jacksonville, Fla. The two were roommates and A7 Corsair pilots on board the Constellation late last fall.

According to Stennis, Groeper testified that, for two missions against Quang Lang airfield last fall, Navy fliers "generally understood they were to unload bombs whether they met with hostile reaction or not."

But Moore said, according to Stennis, "They expected hostile reaction, but the intelligence officers said if they did not meet hostile reaction you would not release your bombs."

The Navy was drawn into the inquiry after Stennis reported receiving new information of unauthorized raids flown by Navy pilots while in the midst of hearings on Air Force raids ordered by Gen. John D. LaVelle, who was fired as 7th Air Force commander, demoted and retired after his role became known.

and were released Thursday. Columbus showed fewer murders, robberies, larcenies over $50 and auto thefts in the first half of 1972, compared to the same period a year ago.

Forcible rapes, robberies, larcenies and auto thefts all declined in Parma. No figure was available on the number of murders in the city in 1971. Parma reported three murders for the first half of this year.

Canton remained even in the number of murders and had a light decline in auto thefts, but the five other crime categories all increased for the Stark County city in 1972.

Dayton showed more than 200 additional crimes in four categories and a smaller jump in another. The city reported one less murder and three fewer forcible rapes.

Hijacker Given Life Sentence

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Declaring that "this business of aircraft piracy has just got to stop," a federal court judge has sentenced a convicted hijacker to life in prison.

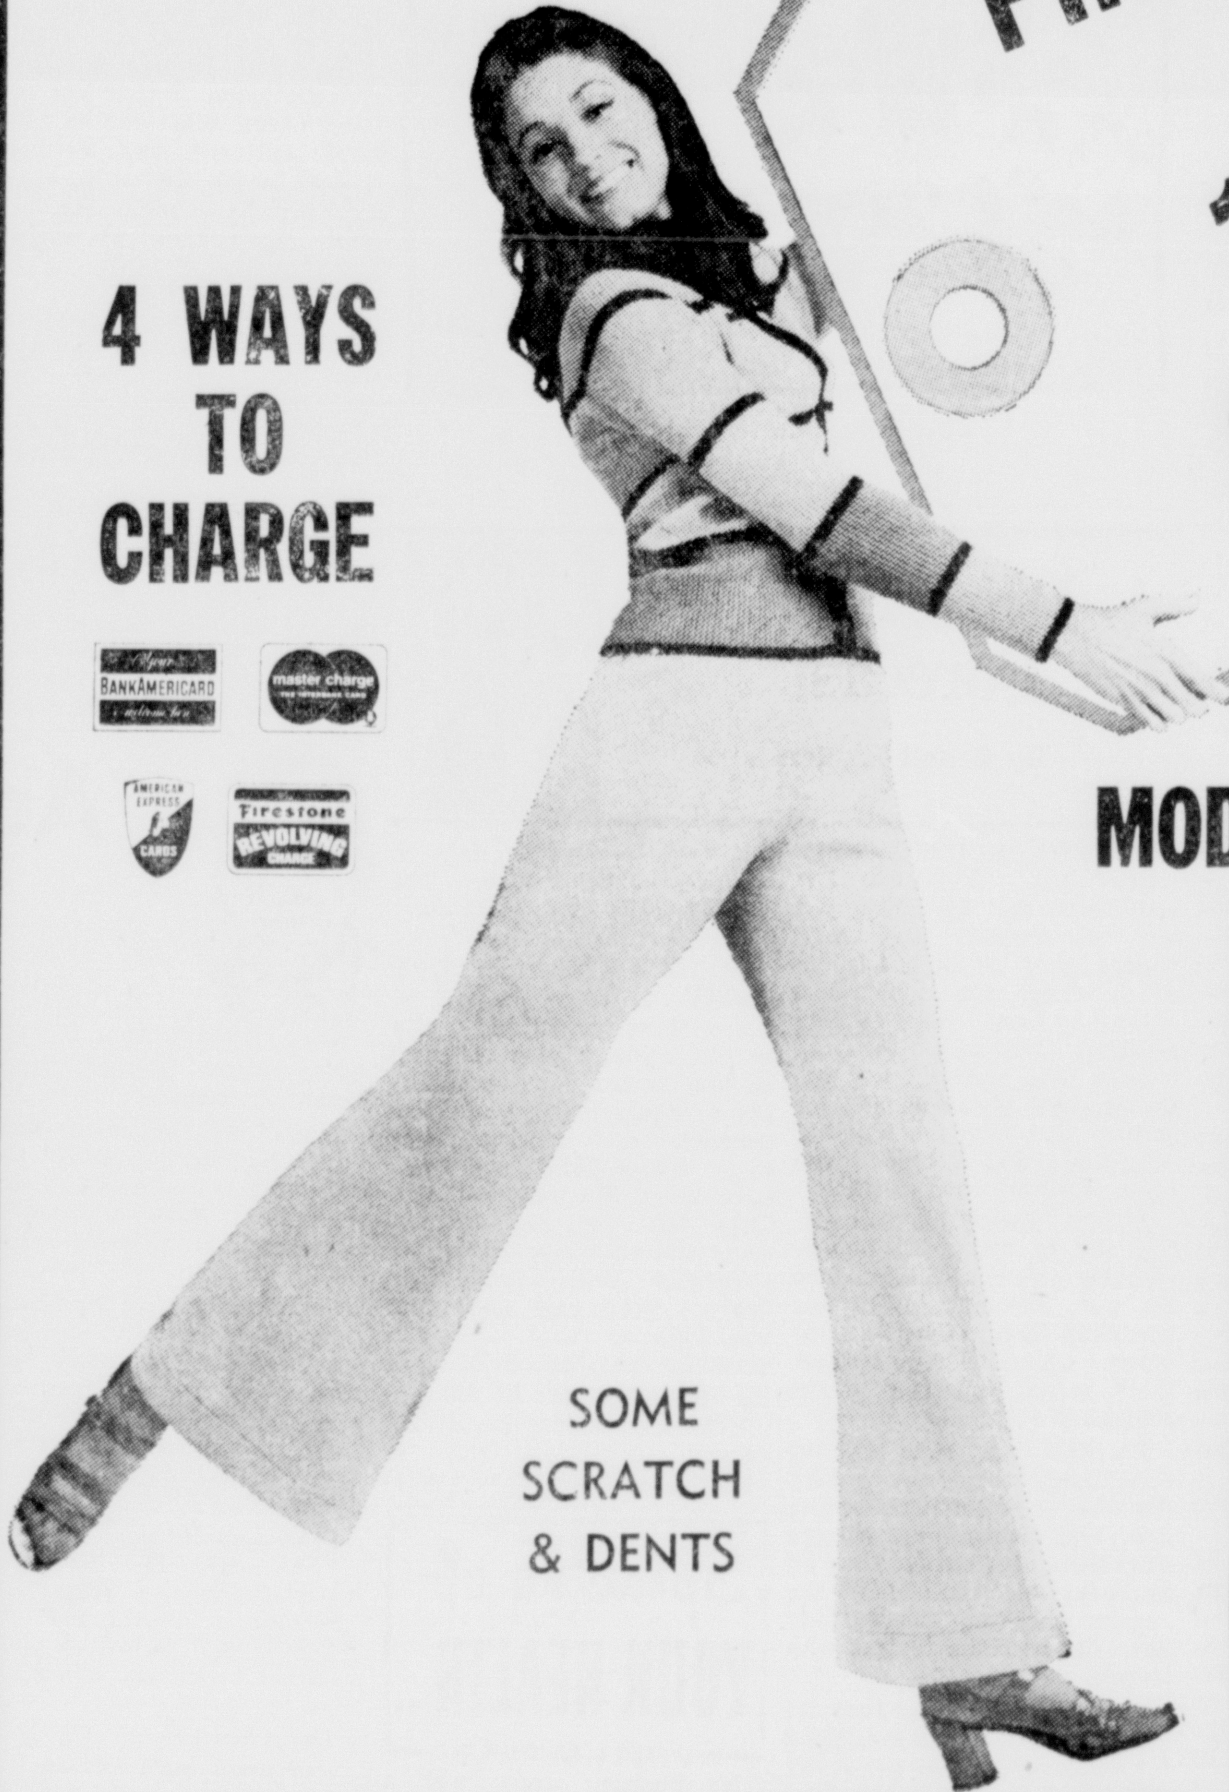

U.S. District Court Judge Luther Ebuanks said he completely agreed with the jury in rejecting the plea by Mevin M. Fisher of Norman, Okla., that when he piloted an American Airlines plane shortly after it left Will Rogers World Airport here last July 12.

Fisher, 49, did not deny during the trial that he committed the hijacking, but contended that his actions were brought on by drugs prescribed for his various physical ailments.

Crazy Economics

Every year thousands of business failures are recorded in the United States. But frequently not a single bank fails. This disturbs some critics of the status quo, who are convinced the fact there are no bank failures indicates the nation's bankers are not willing to venture into areas of risk capital far enough.

Their contention is there might be several thousand businesses among those which close their doors each year which could be saved were they able to obtain sufficient credit. These critics point to the lack of bank failures as proof banks aren't doing their job of financing business ventures presenting a reasonably small risk of failure.

These "economists" do not elaborate what constitutes a reasonable risk, except that one stipulation must be evidence that some banks went too far in extending credit to firms with shaky acumen.

This is indeed an interesting theory — that failure to a degree is a necessary ingredient of success.

Presumably, the theory is not limited to the banking business. Grocery stores might be suspected of charging too much for a loaf of bread if some of them didn't go bankrupt, gasoline stations could be accused of charging too much for their services as long as they prospered, and so on.

In the case of banks, if it is business failures caused by prudent bank management which concern the critics, they might give a thought to alternate possibilities. Suppose a dozen or so banks had failed last year. What catastrophes could such failures have caused in their local communities?

Not only among those who unexpectedly had their notes called, but among depositors and employees and the thousands of prospective customers who might have used the banks' facilities to begin new businesses or otherwise contribute to the local economy had the banks not failed?

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. is a buffer to the individual depositor, but only healthy lending institutions can provide the credit needed to generate new business. And the nation's financial institutions have never been more sound.

SATURDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Until noon use care that you are not sensitive and avoid getting your feelings hurt in which event you could lose objectivity and make a big mistake. However, the afternoon and evening are fine for personal pleasures and for getting the home and other furnishings and articles you need. Show affection to others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try not to lose your temper with kin at home in a.m., then the p.m. becomes restful and charming there. Come to a far better understanding instead. Don't permit a partner to run roughshod over you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Tense those worries over financial or personal matters in a.m., and wear a smile and you win others over easily. Then all improves for you. Make the repairs that are needed and have fun at home tonight with friends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure you do not overspend for whatever you do not really need anyway during the day, and in p.m. you can then make fine plans for the future. Others expect too much from you, so do only what is humanly possible and show you have good sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you show that you are well controlled during a.m., you win easily over others. Later you can be with congenials for the delightful pleasures you desire with them. Spend some, but not too much.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of fretting over that situation in a.m. when you can do little about it, await the afternoon and settle it calmly after you have cooled off. Dress nicely and go out socially tonight. Show others you like them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Morning is a good time to get appearance improved if you are going to go out socially later. Don't wait until the last minute and feel unsure. Good friends are in fine mood for fun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will clear up that confusing condition at home in a.m., and then the afternoon and evening are fine for dining out, other activities you like. After lunch is best time for approaching that bigwig for backing. Meet new personalities, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Morning is best time to delve into that source of information difficult for you to do before. Then make the right new connections you want. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets but flatters you a great deal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Getting responsibilities well handled in a.m. frees time for more enjoyable activities later in the day and in p.m. That feeling of joviality returns in p.m. that has been missing all day. Have fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are patient with a partner in a.m., you find that later in the day you get backing or cooperation you want, but could not earlier. That problem is difficult to solve until p.m. Then all is okay.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have boring work to do in the morning, so get out of the way before you step out for other activities, since it is important nevertheless. Steer clear of arguments. Build up your vitality in some right way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to have a good time, which is all right, provided you get that important work out of the way early most efficiently.

You have to clear up flaws in creative outlets, too. The evening can be particularly delightful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those fearful and overly sensitive young people if you let him or her hang on to the apron strings too long. So give training in self-dependence early, but carefully, and teach early about the pitfalls of life. Then this becomes a most successful chart, particularly in connection with public endeavors. Teach early not to fuss and fiddle so much, especially about the unimportant things of life. Sports are very helpful.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My husband works with a drill press and other machinery. Almost every night he comes home with blisters on his fingers.

What is the best way to treat blisters?

Mrs. T. L. Ark.

Dear Mrs. L.: Blisters form as a result of pressure on any skin area. People working with machinery or athletes must recognize that tender areas of redness should be protected before a blister forms. The skin areas can be protected with moleskin coverings, and with a variety of foam rubber pads.

Prevention, of course, is the ideal way to avoid the nuisance and sometimes the pain and incapacitation of blisters.

When once a blister forms, the collection of fluid should be released, making sure that infection is not introduced. A simple and safe technique is to first clean and sterilize the skin surface around the blister with alcohol or soap and water.

Then sterilize a needle by passing it through a flame until it is red hot. Be sure that it cools in the air. Insert the needle into the edge of the skin area adjacent to the blister. The fluid will then come out through this opening.

In this way, the thick skin that covers the blister will remain intact to protect it. The entire blister can then be covered with an ordinary gauze and adhesive strip. Press it firmly over the blister in order to prevent the re-formation of fluid.

I have been told that I have an "irritable" colon. Complete X-rays did not show anything.

What can be done for such an unpleasant condition? It causes me severe cramps and gassy feeling.

Mr. O. W. B. Wise.

Dear Mr. B.: Sometimes the term "irritable colon" is used when there is no real evidence of organic disease in the intestinal tract.

Occasionally the abdominal cramp, flatulence and diarrhea may be due to an intolerance to milk and milk products. It might be worthwhile to eliminate these for a while to see if there is any change. This should be done under your doctor's supervision.

Dr. James Roth, of the University of Pennsylvania, makes some concrete suggestions for people who complain of an "irritable colon." He tells his patients to avoid excess raw fruits and vegetables, spices and fried foods. Gas-forming vegetables

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts of the world's trading nations to erect a new monetary system is further recognition that this, after all, one small planet of mutually dependent peoples.

That reminder is more often placed before us today in another context, that of ecology. We fully realize now that one nation's behavior in air and water treatment, for example, effects not only it but the world.

The same is true in international trade, where one nation's excess often can be used to fill another's need, to their mutual benefit. But there is no gyroscope to maintain this balance, and trade sometimes hurts rather than helps.

Nations sometimes try to dump their excess on another. They try to withhold goods if that helps their cause. They erect trade barriers in the form of quotas and duties. In effect, they sometimes practice warfare in trade.

Other problems arise because of internal differences, economic policy, inflation, wage rates, living standards, stage and pace of industrialization.

And as these economic elements change, so also changes the symbol of a nation's economy, the value of its currency. Ever-changing currency values constitute a threat to the exchange of goods and money.

In effect, the International Monetary Fund, now meeting in Washington, is seeking to build into world trade a guidance system, a monitor of values, by erecting a new system of currency exchange.

If they succeed—it is generally believed imperative that they do—it will be perhaps the most vital of many moves undertaken in the past 25 years to achieve world economic cooperation.

Progress is already noteworthy. The United States now trades with China and Russia. Japan and China are seeking to accommodate each other. The nations of Europe are expanding the European Common Market.

The trend is not, however, all in one direction.

Simultaneously with efforts toward economic cooperation and unity economic nationalism is intensifying in some nations which are fearful that trade hampers rather than promotes their well being.

The United States is considering the Burke-Hartke bill aimed at protecting American business. Chile and some underdeveloped nations are going their own way. Canada, Australia and others are concerned about foreign ownership of their production facilities.

Moreover, the gap between the rich nations and the poor nations is widening rather than closing, an international trade is one of the primary reasons for it. A nation whose exports consist mainly of raw materials, especially those that can be duplicated artificially, has little clout.

The route toward economic cooperation has crossed a lot of hills and valleys to get this far, but it still has many more ahead. At the moment, the biggest obstacle is the lack of an acceptable monetary system.

The system that died a year ago had served the world's trading nations until it became too out of joint with the times, too inflexible to accommodate itself to changes in the relative economic strength of nations.

Erecting a new system is considered by monetary authorities to be the only alternative to gradual fragmentation of the economic cooperation that brought prosperity to many nations following the great depression and World War II.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Bus driver Edgar Parker enjoys happy passengers.

That's why he greets them with, "Hi, how are you?" and urges them to "please watch your step. Have a beautiful afternoon and a lovely weekend."

Parker apologizes to elderly ladies with canes for not pulling even with the curb; says goodbye in five languages; points out landmarks in Harlem and midtown Manhattan; waves to merchants and jokes constantly.

Some samples: "Next stop is the poor house—Rockefeller Plaza." "Welcome aboard our 747. We have this aircraft disguised as a bus to prevent a hijack. I hope."

The riders love it. Customers have written him letters, offered candy and free lunches and even tried to kiss him.

"One lady wanted to kiss me goodnight but her husband kept pulling her away," says Parker, a 50-year-old father of three who moved to New York from North Carolina in 1936.

He started driving a city bus four years ago. Before that he ran a liquor store in Harlem.

"Driving a bus in New York is one of the hardest jobs," he says. "Anything you do with the public is hard."

His secret is "neighbor first, God second and me last."

"I love people," says Parker, an ordained minister who spends little time preaching but a lot of hours visiting hospital patients.

"You never see people smile anymore. They're so tense waiting for someone to offer a kind word," he says. "If everybody practices a little love there would be less fear."

Many passengers stop on their way out to thank him for a pleasant ride. A German woman had her friend take her picture alongside him.

How do you spot Parker's bus?

It's marked "4 to Ft. Tyron Park" on an afternoon route, and usually he's heard announcing over his microphone: "All aboard. All aboard. Hi, glad to have you with us today."

Many Clergymen Now Enter Election Fray

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — While some church leaders have organized to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, others are advising against such partisanship and others have voiced their backing for President Nixon.

It's a mixed medley when it comes to recording the religious counterpoint to the current national election contest, but that element is keenly involved this time, even though both candidates are Protestants.

"Directly and indirectly, religious factors will play an extremely important role in the outcome," says the Rev. Dr. Gerald Strober, who has done special research on the subject.

For the first time in the annals of modern presidential elections, some prominent churchmen have formed a cross-country interfaith network, called "Religious Leaders for McGovern," in behalf of the Democratic contender.

Although acting as individuals, and specifically not as spokesmen of their constituencies, they maintain that ending the Vietnam war is such a basic moral imperative that it justifies the clergy in taking sides publicly in the campaign.

It's a new strategy, breaking with the long-time practice against clergymen organizing to back particular candidates. But its key planner, Methodist Bishop James Armstrong of Aberdeen, S.D., says there are "new reasons" for it.

"We're raining death on Vietnam today more than ever before," he says. "A nation is being reduced to rubble and it's our moral responsibility to do whatever we can to stop it."

Local units of pro-McGovern clergy are being formed in many communities.

On the other hand, Dr. Strober, coauthor of a new book issued by Association Press called "Religion and the New Majority," contends that the nation's new, predominant political force is symbolized by evangelist Billy Graham's friendship with Nixon.

"There's a close affinity between Nixon's and Graham's political and social philosophy and their vision of America," Dr. Strober says, adding that their view coincides with that of a growing preponderance of evangelical Christians.

He says that even though Graham avoids specific endorsements, his influence strengthens Nixon's position, both because of their close friendship and the compatibility of their views, which is shared by a decisive "new majority" of middle Americans.

Some clergy have backed Nixon more directly.

In Fort Worth, Tex., at a meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., representing 6.3 million members and the country's largest black denomination, its president, the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, came out for Nixon's re-election.

However, "boos" and shouted protests sounded in the meeting hall when he told 12,000 delegates: "McGovern says he'll get us out of Vietnam in 10 days. If he does more than Nixon in Vietnam, he'll carry a white flag."

Rabbi David Polish, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, urged Jewish institutions and their representative leaders not to take sides publicly in the contest. He said such partisanship could produce a schism detrimental both to the cause of Israel and of the American Jews.

The lives of people portrayed in straight biography or biographical fiction usually make for interesting reading. Two new biographies and several new novels fall into these classifications. "Courage and Hesitation" by Allen Drury with photographs by Fred Maroon is a warm personal account of President Nixon and his family. W. A. Swanberg in "Luce and His Empire" captures the drives and successes of Henry Luce founder of Time Magazine and shaper of American politics and journalism.

"Disraeli in Love" by Maurice Edelman is the fictional story of one-day British prime minister, Benjamin Disraeli and his early love for a married woman. An epic novel centered on Hannali Irnominee chief of the Oklahoma Choctaw Nation is "Okla Hannali" by R. A. Laferty. This novel portrays the suffering of this tribe as they like other Indian nations of the time were forced to move westward.

Two other new biographical novels are the result of research into the lives of well-known artists. "The Goliath Head" by Charles J. Calitri tells the story of the artist Caravaggio, who rebelled not only against society, but against the artistic conventions of his day. "I, James McNeill Whistler" by Lawrence Williams is an attempt to complete Whistler's own unfinished auto-biography. It provides not only an account of Whistler, the man, but a comprehensive treatment of his major works of art in the context of their time. Many novels are based on the author's personal experiences. In Melchior, son of the famous Danish opera star, has written a suspense novel based on his own experiences during World War II and U. S. Counter-intelligence files.

With the recent tragic air tragedy still in the news readers will be interested in a new title, "Safety-Last", by Captain X. He reveals the shocking truth behind many airline disasters. The author, himself a scheduled jet airline captain, hopes to motivate readers to demand effective legislation which will make the skies safer for him and for them.

Vance Packard's new book, "Nation of Strangers" describes the national loss of a sense of continuity through constant transition, and its effects on the American People. Parents and teachers will want to read "What Do I Do Monday?" by popular author, John Holt. Mr. Holt sets forth his theories of education together with practical easy to use ideas and exercises in reading, writing and mathematics.

For the handy man around the house, Stanley Schuler's "The Complete Book of Closets and Storage" offers simple and inventive solutions to space around the house or apartment. Those who prefer a greater challenge may prefer "How to Remodel Your Attic or Basement" by Richard Day. Mr. Day with the help of many photographs and diagrams gives directions for heating, wiring, lighting and installing floors and ceilings. While the handy man is accomplishing these feats, the woman of the house may wish to develop her own handicraft skills. "Weaving is Fun" by Jean Wilson is an excellent book, not only for beginners, but more advanced weavers as well. Mrs. Wilson discusses how yarns are made, the tools of the craft, basket and cloth weaving, with many suggestions for a variety of weaving. Teachers and leaders of project groups will find many helpful ideas.

New fiction includes the "Garden" by Hollis Summers, story of an Athens, Ohio family. Vacationing on Malta, they find new perspectives in love, marriage, and private terrors. Summer Locke Elliott's "Man Who Got Away" is the story of George, a television producer who has vanished. Why he left is revealed in the story of the shocks and horrors of his life. In "Witness for the Crown" by Richard Gordon, the almost infallible Dr. Rumbelow uses his medical knowledge to obtain "Guilty of Murder" verdicts. His own one fault determines his demise.

Circleville Women's Clubs To Host Fall Conference

Central Ohio River District of Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs is holding its Fall Conference at Community United Methodist Church in Circleville. Circleville Junior Women's Club and Monday Club are hosting this annual information day.

The OFWC is a member of a worldwide federation of Women's Clubs. This year the administration is stressing the Home Life Department because women's influence should stem from the home.

The Fall Conference is one of the many ways in which club women obtain specific detailed ways to carry out the newly suggested programs from GFWC and OFWC.

Mrs. Robert E. Ernst, newly elected president of OFWC, will introduce the state officers and present the new state project "Creative Living" and tell how each club can become involved in this worthwhile project.

There will be election of a District Nominating Committee and many new ideas concerning departmental work and membership will be presented by District Chairmen.

Art and crafts done by members of various OFWC groups will be on display to demonstrate creative living already in program. Any Circleville Junior Club member having art or crafts they wish to display may contact Barbara O'Shaughnessy at 474-8780.

Presiding at the conference will be Mrs. Vernon E. Penwell, District President, and Mrs.

TELL OF CITY—Four speakers were the special guests of Circleville Rotary Thursday. They were: Ed Ebert, left, Safety Director; Atwood Jones, Service Director; Chuck Taylor, Director of Public Utilities; and Frank Barnhill, mayor of the city.

Mayor And Staff Members At Thursday Rotary Meeting

Rotary had the opportunity to learn about Circleville and its operation when Mayor Frank Barnhill and his staff spoke Thursday.

Barnhill, with Safety Director Ed Ebert, Service Director Atwood Jones and Utilities Director Chuck Taylor, were special guests at the meeting yesterday noon. Other guests attending were Charles Knox, Scott Imbody, State Representative Myrl Shoemaker, Bob Tootle and City Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe.

Barnhill directed his remarks to the growth of Circleville from a population of 7,000 in the late 1930's to its present size of over 12,000. The expansion he noted had caused growing pains involved with zoning, annexation, police and fire departments and all related facilities.

Ed Ebert, the city's safety Director, told Rotarians that the city's traffic lights were in the process of being changed to comply with new state laws. Many street signs are being replaced to better direct traffic.

Information on current street and sewer improvements were explained by Service Director Atwood "Woody" Jones plus those still in the planning stage. He noted that road improvements along Lancaster Pike, Nicholas Drive and additional new roads would be started when developers had completed their plans.

The new sewage processing plant for the city, which will fall under the jurisdiction of Utilities Director Chuck Taylor, was described. It should be completed in September, 1974, Taylor noted, barring any unforeseen holdups.

Piano Teacher Studies New Techniques

Mrs. Mary Jane Dean, Circleville piano teacher, has enrolled in a Piano Musicianship Pedagogy series of classes offered through The Ohio State University under the co-sponsorship of the National Piano Foundation, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Jerry Lowder, Head of Class Piano at The Ohio State University, is teaching the course which is based on new techniques in group piano instruction. Included in the course are the inter-related subjects of sightreading, transposition, ear training, repertoire, harmony, and keyboard improvisation. These subjects are intended to give piano students a broad musical understanding and to develop literacy and independence.

The educational programs of the National Piano Foundation are under the direction of Dr. Robert Pace, internationally known educator and author.

Alligator Joined By Vicious Croc

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Hobbs is a long way from the swamps of the Gulf Coast, but somehow alligators and crocodiles seem to find their way here.

First came John Roger Enzyms, a three-foot reptile which is a pet of the city sewage treatment plant employees.

The alligator's quiet existence in a special pool at the plant came to an end Tuesday when he was joined by a 14-inch, two-pound crocodile described as vicious.

Local Red Cross Discusses Community Fund Campaign

At the Wednesday meeting of the Board of Directors, Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross, plans for the County Community Fund solicitation were outlined by Dick Wylie, Chairman for the County. He said the organization is underway in all but two or three townships. Captains may secure materials at the Chapter House any time.

C. P. Pfeleger, chairman, announced that eleven visits of the Bloodmobile will be scheduled in 1973, making the quota 1375 pints for the year.

John Sanders, First Aid Chairman, announced plans for additional classes in the near future. Dates are not yet firm.

Mrs. Keith Conrad stated that 80 Ditty Bags were packed and mailed Wednesday to be distributed to servicemen in Vietnam on Christmas Day. Each bag contains 20 useful articles.

Mrs. Lewis Dean, VA Hospital Chairman, outlined needed articles for the Christmas observance at the Hospital. About 300 small gift articles will be sent from Pickaway County for the gift store. Forty large and small table decorations will also be needed. County Girl Scout troops are decorating candy cups for Thanksgiving.

Plans were made for designation of the second chapter car as a memorial to Mr. Talmer Wise. A small plaque will be installed in the car each year and a memory book containing names of contributors will be maintained.

Bible Study Stated

Dorothy Conrad, pastor of the Ray Ave. Mission, will conduct the studies of Revelation 7:39 Tuesday at the Williamsport Community Church it has been announced.

A love story about knits.

Sure you love those soft, stretchy knits. Dresses, sweaters, slacks. And you don't want them sagging or bagging. So, what's it take to keep knit fibers in shape? Polyester knits are usually washable. But construction of the garment may make washing risky. This goes for other man-made fibers, too. Wool knits are best protected by professional dry-cleaning. And even "washable wools" must be handled carefully to avoid shrinkage or stretching. Should you wash knits that are blends of man-made and natural fibers such as wool and cotton? Some you can. It depends on the type and amount of natural fiber. One thing for sure, you have no doubts when you get our Sanitone drycleaning. This is the way to really be sure your knit garments stay soft, luxurious, and in their original shape. If you're fond of knits, ask us for a copy of "How To Care For Your Knits," a tender love story featured in VOGUE, ESQUIRE, HARPER'S BAZAAR, MADMOISELLE, GLAMOUR, & SPORTS ILLUSTRATED magazines.

NEW YORK (AP) — A misunderstanding over a cancer research report last weekend has been blamed for a widespread but false belief that researchers at Oak Ridge National Laboratory had achieved a major advance in cancer treatment.

Scientists from the laboratory told a news conference Wednesday that there was no such breakthrough and agreed that answers to the cancer problem may lie years in the future.

Spokesmen said the laboratory has received hundreds of telephone calls from around the country and around the world inquiring about the original report, which was based on a news release from the National Cancer Institute.

The release said a team of scientists from NCI and Oak Ridge "have proposed a mechanism to explain how stimulation of the immune, or disease-fighting, systems of animals with cancer can result in complete disappearance of their cancers."

The scientists said Wednesday that the words "complete disappearance" apparently led to reports of a breakthrough in cancer treatment.

Israeli Arrested In Bomb Threat

TEL AVIV (AP) — Police have detained a young Israeli for telephoning a bomb threat to the American Embassy here, officials reported Thursday.

A spokesman said the man told embassy officials he was a member of the Black September guerrilla organization and there was a bomb in the building.

An official stalled the caller while police traced the call. A 23-year-old Jaffa man was caught in a public telephone both moments later, the spokesman said.

When a man has a brother

A man's got to look after his brother. That's what Timmy said the other day, as he stood beside our baby. And I told him he was right. "You are so much stronger than this tiny, little creature," I said. "From now on, you've got a real responsibility!"

A man does have to look after his brother... especially when that brother is weak. But there are moments, too, when even the strongest man may need a brother—especially on Worldwide Communion Sunday!

In the eyes of the Church, all men are brothers, just as all men are equally beloved. As long as there is a church near you, you are not alone. You have only to open the door and walk in and you will be at one with your fellow man... and at home with your brothers.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Caught Between 'Bores' And 'Snob'

DEAR ABBY: I do volunteer work with two wonderful women one day a week. It's not very glamorous work, and they are very dedicated and I admire them tremendously.

One of the women invited my husband and me to her home for dinner. My husband wasn't too thrilled about going, but I got him here, and thank goodness, he was cordial. It was a small party, just the two volunteer workers, their husbands and us.

After we got home my husband told me to never subject him to another evening like that. He said he'd never spent such a boring evening — the women came on strong, like a couple of women's libbers, and he felt sorry for their poor henpecked husbands. (That wasn't my impression. I thought the women were fun and entertaining, and the husbands seemed very proud of them.)

Abby, I know I should invite these nice people to my home, but I'm afraid my husband wouldn't hear of it. My problem is, I can't face them every week knowing I should reciprocate. We are quite socially prominent, and they know we entertain a lot, and I'm sure they wonder why I haven't invited them back. Should I beg my husband to please let me have them? It's terribly embarrassing. How should I handle it?

IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: Reciprocate by inviting the women over some afternoon, sans husbands. Don't "beg" your husband to be a host to these nice people. His snobbish attitude would probably show, which would be more humiliating to your guests than not being invited at all.

DEAR ABBY: I just attended a bridal shower where one woman brought her seven-year-old daughter. (The only child there.) The mother planted the little girl at the guest of honor's feet while she opened her gifts. There were lots of pictures taken while the shower gifts were opened, so of course this child got in every one of them! The mother of the child has relatives all over town so there was no excuse for taking her along. What's with these pushy mothers? Or am I the oddball?

ANOTHER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Pushy mothers have been with us since Eve gave Adam the rib. Just try not to hold it against the kids. They're the victims.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very bright, quick-witted 32-year-old son who is an expert at putting people down with his sarcasm. There are times when we all wish we had that talent, but it grieves me to see him constantly use it on his little four-year-old daughter. How can a child cope with a 200-pound man, eight times her age? She is such a sweet, sensitive little thing who adores her father and longs for his approval.

I am sure he loves her, to, but I feel the cutting edge of his sharp tongue against this helpless child as keenly as I felt it years ago when my own mother often ridiculed and humiliated her children, leaving scars on all six of them.

My own son was never subject to this type of cruelty, so he doesn't know how it feels. I do. Thanks

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANON: Since you are "grieved," and legitimately so, I suggest that you tell your "bright" son how you feel about his cruelty. Unburdening yourself to me will not benefit your grandchildren.

DEAR ABBY: Occasionally someone corrects my pronunciation of a word. This makes me very angry. Everyone mispronounces word occasionally. I think anyone who corrects a person is rude and ignorant. What do you think?

MIAMI

DEAR MIAMI: It depends upon the circumstances. To correct someone publicly is rude and unkind. But a private correction is a courtesy.

Time Off, New Assembly Line Plan Eyed By UAW

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers say they'll force the automakers to "humanize" the assembly lines, hire more workers and give more paid time off—perhaps as much as an extra month a year—in 1973.

Ken Banon, head of the UAW's Ford Motor Co. department, gave the first formal glimpse of the union's plans when he spoke to the UAW's National Ford Council here Tuesday.

UAW officials said one reason they will stress nonmonetary issues is that they expect President Nixon to be re-elected and a new, stiffer wage freeze to be imposed.

"We've heard indications the limit might be as low as 4.7 per cent," one official said. "And if we can't get our fair share in the paycheck, we'll get it this way. Besides, the time is right to do something about factory and assembly line conditions."

UAW contracts with Ford, General Motors and Chrysler expire next September. Banon said the target company has not been chosen.

"Even though we struck GM the last time, that doesn't mean we won't pick on them again. And Chrysler's financial condition doesn't rule them out either," he said.

"As we go into the 1973 auto negotiations," Banon told the 200 UAW local officials from the nation's Ford plants, "we have to do something about the conditions employees work under. Factory conditions fill people with dread about the thought of entering the plant every day. And they become so frustrated they take it out not only on their fellow man, but on the product."

Both Ford and General Motors officials have publicly indicated they will fight any attempt to change the operation on the assembly lines, he said. "But we will present the issue and we will fight for it."

Bannon also offered a proposal for 10 per cent more paid time off—26 working days a year—and said it would not cause expensive plant shutdowns because it would force the automakers to hire 10 per cent more workers.

Jetliner Skyjacker Black Panther Head

ALGIERS (AP) — William Roger Holder, who hijacked a Western Airlines plane to Algeria in June, is reported to be the new leader of the Black Panthers international section based here.

A Black Panther communique announcing the change Wednesday gave no information on Pete O'Neal, who took over the section from Eldridge Cleaver in January when Cleaver joined the Black Revolutionary Army.

Counselors Attend State Meet

Mrs. Frances Labuda and Mr. Howard Weaver, TV guidance counselors, met with other school counselors from Ohio, Sept. 29 and 30, to consider the theme, CAMPAIGN FOR GUIDANCE. The occasion was the Twentieth Annual All-Ohio Guidance Conference and was held at the Ohio Exposition Center in Columbus.

Author William Glasser, Kent State University President Glenn A. Olds, and Kenneth Richards of the State Department of Education were featured speakers.

The conference was sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education and the Ohio School Counselors Association, an affiliate of OEA.

Richards, who is director of the State Department's division of guidance and testing and president of the Ohio Association of Counselor Education and Supervision, served as the luncheon speaker for the conference.

Kent State University President Olds, a recent U. S. ambassador to the United Nations and former special assistant for policy and manpower development to President Nixon, was the meeting's banquet speaker.

Wind-up session speaker Glasser is the author of a number of books in the area of psychology and education including "Schools Without Failure", "Reality Therapy", and "Mental Health Or Mental Illness." He is president of the Institute for Reality Therapy at Los Angeles, Calif.

The first All-Ohio Guidance Conference was attended by 45 persons. This year, over 1,200 school counselors and other educators attended.

School Opening Day Assembly Is Held

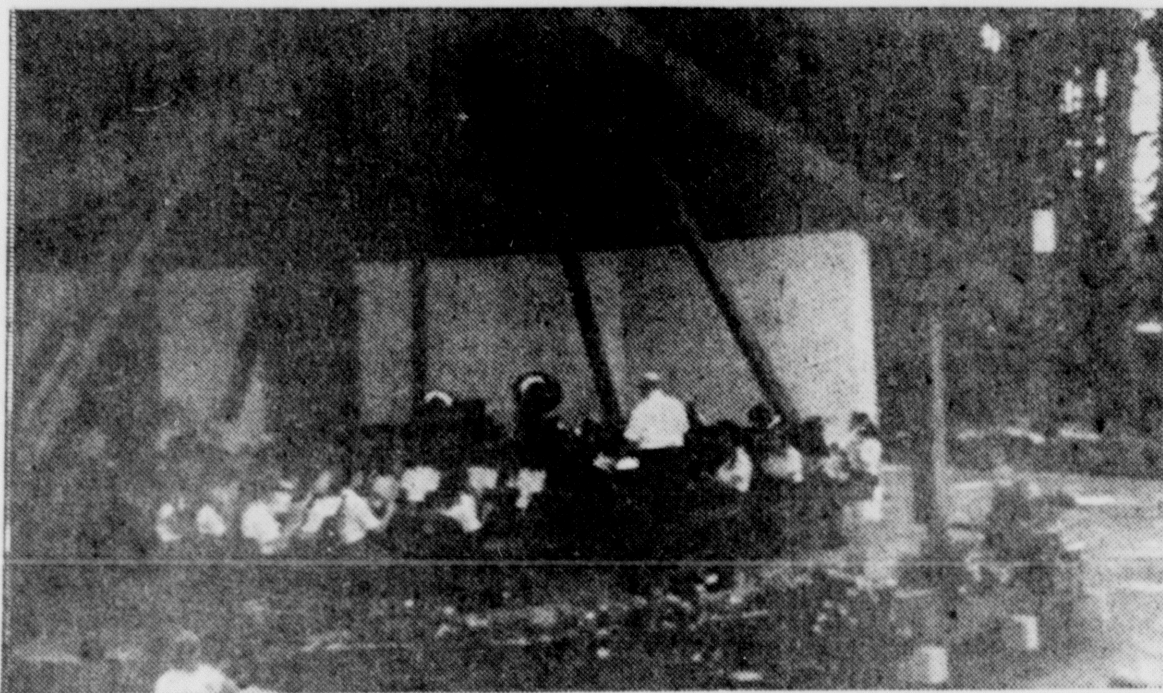

First day of the 1972-73 school year progressed as usual. An assembly was held to acquaint the new students with the regulations at Teays Valley and to remind veteran students that these rules still exist.

Mr. Snider is happy with the excellent way students have adjusted to the double sessions of school. He says their attitude is excellent.

Total enrollment this year is 778. There are 403 boys and 375 girls.

Twelve Grads Attend Franklin University

Twelve Teays Valley graduates are attending Franklin University this fall. They are: John Beavers, Shelley Breece, Teresa Clay, Roger Creameans, Jeffrey Ehman, Wendell Hancock, James Kirk, Alan Peters, William Six (Walnut Twp. High), Michael L. Smith, Lucy Vause, and Ronald Wilkins.

IN CONCERT—Teays Valley's 48 band members who toured Europe in August are shown in concert at Innsbruck in Austria, under the direction of Fred Brobst. The group performed in concert three other occasions and participated in a contest of bands at Coventry, England. They were awarded a silver trophy and a plaque for their contest performance.

European Tour Highlight Of Teens' Summer

By KAREN HARMOUNT and DEB HELSER

At 9:58 p.m. on Aug. 6, the Teays Valley High School Concert Band left on a two-week European tour.

Members went by plane to Amsterdam, then took a bus through Rotterdam on into Paris where they spent three days.

The last three days were spent in Coventry, England, where the band participated in the International Music Festival. The group received a silver trophy, a plaque, and a special invitation to play at the awards concert.

Other places visited were: Innsbruck and Salzburg, Austria; Dinkelsbühl, Germany; and London and Stratford, England.

The tour came to an end Aug. 20 when the group's plane landed at 11 p.m. in Columbus. On the way home, discussing the trip, the majority of the band members claimed Austria and Switzerland as the favorite places visited on the tour.

Although they enjoyed the trip very much, the band members and chaperones were glad to be home.

Liz Good Takes Part In Program

Liz Good, senior, participated in a special service at St. Philip's Church, in Circleville, Sept. 24.

The service was the first in a series planned for St. Philip's. The form of worship which anciently closed the Christian's day—Compline—was read by David Allardice, rector. Within the service, voice and organ recitalists, Brenda Mays and Liz, were heard assisted by the choir and guest vocalists and instrumentalists.

Liz, who is a student of Mrs. Paul Teegardin, plans to enter Capital University next year to prepare to be a professional church musician.

There were 48 band members, two band directors and five chaperones who went on the European trip. Each band member and chaperone and director paid his or her own way.

Officers Take Elected Post

By DEBBIE McCOTER

Election of 1972-73 class officers was conducted last May. Officers for this year are as follows:

SENIORS

President Dan Sprouse; vice president, Wilson Ett; treasurer, Liz Good; secretary, Deb Lowry; and news reporter, Diana Pobst.

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORES

President, Dan Brinker; vice president, Jeri Voss; treasurer, Ted Ross; secretary, Lori Stewart; and news reporter, Estill Salyers.

FRESHMEN

President, Bill Toole; vice president, Glenn Hinkle; treasurer, James Kuhlwein; secretary, Tracy Gilbert; and news reporter, Regina Bluck.

The boys seem to reign at Teays Valley this year as all four class presidents are boys, with three boys serving as vice presidents. The girls have an ear for news and a hand for writing, however, as three of the news reporters and all four secretaries are feminine. The position of treasurer is divided evenly with two girls and two boys handling the finances of the classes.

Summer Is Spent In Venezuela

RACHEL WOOLEVER

By SUE DERRING
Rachel Woolever had the privilege of spending her entire summer in beautiful Caracas, Venezuela because last year a panel of eight teachers chose her as the exchange student from Teays Valley.

She lived in an apartment with a family of six. Both her "parents" worked in a telegraph office, and her "father" also ran a medical retailer supply. She had three Venezuelan sisters, ages 18, 16, and 14, and a brother, 13. Her oldest "sister" is now in Oklahoma as an exchange student.

No one in Rachel's family spoke English, so she returned to the United States speaking fluent Spanish.

The Spanish custom she enjoyed most was hitchhiking. It was safe, cheap, and used everywhere.

Rachel says about Venezuela, "I loved it. I want to go back when I can afford it. I recommend the exchange program to anyone who wants to travel."

FHA Begins Fall Agenda

By KATHY McPHERSON

President Kathy McPherson officiated at the initial meeting of the Future Homemakers of America Sept. 14.

Following the opening ceremony, roll call was taken with everyone answering by naming her favorite subject this year. Twenty-two members, six officers, and two advisers were present.

Minutes of the officers' summer meetings were read by Secretary Sharon Spurlock, and the treasurer's report was given by Joni Little. Darlene Voss was appointed as photographer for this year.

Reports were given on the officers' summer meetings and activities by Ann Thomas and Kay Ward. An explanation of the FHA Constitution was read by Joni Little.

Members interested in attending the Sub-Regional meeting on Oct. 14 were asked to sign a list.

Informal initiation for all new members was scheduled for Sept. 28, with formal initiation set for Oct. 12.

Some plans for the year's activities were discussed and are still under consideration. The closing ceremony took place, and the meeting was adjourned.

The program following the meeting was "Getting To Know You." Songs were sung, and games were played. Refreshments of sherbet, punch, and cookies were served by the officers.

Anyone interested in joining FHA is very welcome. Many new and fun programs have been planned for the year's meetings. To be eligible, a girl must be now enrolled in home economics or have been in

'Pure Hearts' Is Play Selection

By DEB HELSER

Drama Club held its organizational meeting Sept. 6. Mrs. Melody Johnson, adviser, gave a brief summary of the four plays being considered for the fall production November 18: "Dear Ruth," "Brother Goose," "If a Man Answers," and "Because Their Hearts Were Pure."

A committee of nine was chosen to read, and they decided to meet on Sept. 20 to select the play. On the committee were Joyce Cline, Jody Derring, Theresa Jones, Gail Conley, Teresa Kirk, Bridget Haines, Pam Younkin, Martin Firestone, and Mel Woolever.

The committee chose the play "Because Their Hearts Were Pure," an old-fashioned melodrama by Morland Cary. Drama Club met again Sept. 27, and cuttings for tryouts were distributed. Tryouts are set for Oct. 3 and 4.

wanted to quit the choir; but at 8 every night we sang at the coliseum, and it made the sore feet worthwhile. You could tell the appreciation of the people when they stood during the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." It was a fantastic experience, but after all the tearful goodbyes, I was glad to come home," said Elizabeth.

"I thought it was a great experience. I learned a lot more about music. It's great to know that there are a lot of good voices in Ohio," commented Jim.

Darlene said, "To be among 300 kids who really let you know they care about you is a wonderful feeling. The greatest moments of being in the choir were singing to a full house in the coliseum, singing to the senior citizens, and our final concert when we all cried because the good times we had shared for the past ten days were over."

"The warm atmosphere we shared was fantastic. Sometimes the work seemed tedious, but to see a smile on the face of a person you know you makes anything rewarding."

Band Performs At All Games

By JODIE DERRING and KATHY NULL

The Teays Valley marching band will be performing a pregame and halftime show at every home and away football game of the season.

Their first show of the season was dedicated to the concert band's trip to Europe this past summer. It began with an airplane formation to "Up, Up, and Away." Then the band formed an Eiffel Tower. To "Do Re Mi," the formation was a mountain.

Then it represented the changing of the guards in Buckingham Palace of London, England. To this, marchers performed a wooden soldier drill while the majorettes did a gun drill. To complete the show the band played the heartwarming "America the Beautiful" to which the musicians formed a shield and the majorettes highlighted it with American flags.

The band participated in the West Jefferson Marching Band Contest Sept. 30. Their program consisted mostly of squad drills and a block-band drill. Music used was by Chicago: "Make Me Smile," "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?" and "25 or 6 to 4."

MINI-MESSAGE

By CECIL SAGRAVES
THE NEW BIRTH

Do you know what it means to be born again, to be saved, regenerated, or to pass from death unto life?

Jesus, our Savior, said to a ruler in Israel, that he must be born again in order to inherit eternal life. This second birth is a spiritual one and it must come from above. Read John 3:3.

The new birth saves a person from the eternal lake of fire, and also saves him to do service for his Creator, God. Read Eph. 2:8-10.

The new birth regenerates the body, soul and spirit. Your body is like an automobile battery, without a charge in it, it is dead, but when it is charged up with electricity it is regenerated. The body without the Holy Spirit living in it is like a dead car battery. On the other hand, the body that has the Holy Spirit in it is ready to be used and it is alive. Set Tit. 3:5 and Matt. 19:28.

Without the new birth the body is dead. When the Bible speaks about a living person being dead, it is simply saying you are separated from God. However, when a person receives the new birth, he automatically passes from death (separation from God) unto life (in fellowship with God.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Only one chore lingers after the hurly burly of television's premiere week: The Fearless Forecast of 1972, which predicts which new series may succeed or succumb in the months ahead.

The forecast is drawn without tea leaves and is strictly a personal guess. Here it is:

SUNDAY — CBS: "Anna and the King," doomed. "M-A-S-H," may linger a full season, but a questionable starter next fall. "Sandy Duncan," replacement imminent in midseason.

MONDAY — CBS: "Bill Cosby," will catch on and prosper. ABC: "The Rookies," lousy stories, good acting and too early to call.

TUESDAY — CBS: "Maude," probably will fold due to high sound level, despite good writing and acting. ABC: "Temperatures Rising," ratings lowering and funeral probable.

WEDNESDAY — NBC: "NBC Wednesday Mystery Movie," will struggle along for a year, but with a 50-50 chance of a second season. "Search," with us for a long, long time. ABC: "Paul Lynde Show," one season and out. "Julie Andrews Show," on and on if she can stand the pace.

THURSDAY — CBS: "The Waltons," a good chance of survival if shifted in midseason to a less fearsome time slot (the opposition is Flip Wilson and Mod Squad). ABC: "The Men," doesn't look like a long ranger.

FRIDAY — NBC: "Little People," Brian Keith will just have to settle for the rigors of two years in Hawaii; the show will be around for at least that long and probably longer. "Ghost Story," only the Shadow knows. "Banyon," one year at most.

SATURDAY — CBS: "Bridget Loves Bernie," will last the length of the old-style Hollywood marriage — three years. "Bob Newhart," no worries until someone steals his

Twister Hits Great Lakes; 18 Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Showers and thunderstorms continued to bombard a wide area from southern Oklahoma to Michigan with locally heavy rains and high winds today.

Thursday night, a tornado touched down at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station 35 miles north of Chicago. Eighteen persons were injured, 12 mobile homes destroyed and 25 other mobile homes severely damaged.

Flooding dangers returned to plague northeastern Illinois, severely hit several weeks ago. Midway Airport in Chicago, the official weather station, reported 3.65 inches of rain.

Elsewhere, cool air covered the north central states. Below-freezing temperatures prevailed over the northern Rockies and western Dakotas with frost over Nebraska and northern Colorado.

Cool air was rapidly displacing a warm, muggy air mass over the southern states. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 29 at Cut Bank, Mont., to 88 at Blythe, Calif.

Youth Is Given Detention Time In Police Chase

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Ronald Allen, 16, of Baxter, Tenn., has been committed to an indeterminate term in an Ohio juvenile facility in connection with a 40-mile police chase in a stolen Ohio High Patrol cruiser.

The youth was committed by Warren County Juvenile Judge H. William Bowers who said he made his decision after a report by a Ohio Youth Commission Diagnostic Center, in Columbus, where Allen had undergone examination.

Allen pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of a police cruiser and auto larceny. Allen escaped in a cruiser near Dayton after being picked up on a traffic charge. Police chased the youth at speeds over 100 m.p.h. until he crashed into a police roadblock just north of Cincinnati Aug. 18. Allen was shot in the neck.

The hand-made wooden tools in the water-powered gristmill at Philipsburg Manor, in North Tarrytown, N. Y., just 16 miles north of New York City, are identical to those used three centuries ago.

Some Progress Reported In Columbus Strike Talks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City negotiators planned to respond to a new contract proposal today as bargaining with municipal workers appeared to begin to make some progress.

Representatives of Local 1632, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees presented a modified proposal Thursday after members rejected a pact offered by the city.

Arthur Tisdale, chief city negotiator, said Thursday's meeting was the "most encouraging" in two months of bargaining.

He expressed optimism that a settlement would be reached to head off a strike by 1,700 city workers at midnight Sunday.

The local has a membership meeting scheduled Sunday afternoon to vote on any agreement that might be reached or possibly take a strike vote.

Mayor Tom Moody has said a strike could seriously curtail garbage collections in the city.

Tisdale said the union Thursday reduced its money request in the first year of the contract from 23-30 cents to 20-30 cents and to 30 cents across-the-board the second year from an earlier 40-cent demand.

The union asked that a so-called zero chill factor be incorporated in a memo of understanding and a committee of two city representatives and two union spokesmen be formed to consider the weather guidelines.

Previously, the union had requested retention of a city policy of stopping outside work when temperatures dropped to 5 degrees or lower.

There was approval of a contribution for purchase of a refrigerator for the Sheltered Workshop.

Mrs. Willoughby elaborated on the recent visit to Cedar Point by 13 clients of the workshop. She included a special thank you for the contribution by P.C.M.H.A. which helped make this rewarding vacation possible.

Edward Holmes, Program Chairman, announced that the next regular meeting would be held November 20.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Before the opening of the 1972 football season, the Ohio High School Athletic Association had devised a tie-breaking system to be mandatory in all Ohio high school games.

However, opposition from some of the big city schools prevailed and the tie-breaker is no longer mandatory but can be used by leagues and schools so desiring.

For the benefit of fans who do not understand how the system works, we will try to explain the operation. First, it is not a sudden death affair. If the game ends in a tie, both teams will take a five-minute break and then meet at the middle of the field for a flip of the coin.

The winner has the choice of going on offense or defense. The offensive team is given the ball on the opponents' 10-yard line with four plays to produce a score, either a touchdown, safety or fieldgoal.

Regardless of what happens, the defensive team moves to the offensive and is given the same chance on the other teams 10-yard line.

The team that produces the most points wins the game. If neither team scores, they go through the same procedure and start all over again.

If by chance, the defensive team would intercept a pass and run it back for a touchdown the game would be over as the offensive team would have lost possession and the defensive team would have scored.

In our humble opinion, the team winning the flip of the coin should elect to go on the defense.

When they get their offensive turn they will know exactly how many points they need to win the game.

The system has been used with good results in Kansas and one other midwestern state that eludes us at the moment.

Opponents to the system felt that fans would flock to the ends of the field and cause a crowd control problem but this is debatable.

Ten leagues in the state have approved the system and will use it in their games as well as a number of independent teams. The South Central Ohio League, Metropolitan League, Scioto Valley Conference and Mid-State have all voted against the use of the tie-breaker this year.

Leagues using the system are: Mid-Eight, Muskingum Valley, Dayton Public, Southwestern Ohio, Tri-County, Tri-Valley, Inter-Valley, Suburban Lakes, Western Ohio and Darby Valley.

The tie-breaker is mandatory in all Ohio High School championship playoff games.

The leagues using the system this year will be the testing ground and should provide a better look at the merits of the plan, when the season is over.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Tigers will leave the Lions crying . . . The Vikings will clip the Falcons' wings . . . The Braves will take the scalps of East Clinton . . . Westfall will find tough going against Adena . . . The Browns will spoil Paul Brown's visit to the stadium . . . Redskins will stop the Patriots . . . Minnesota will dump the Dolphins . . . Giants are stronger than Eagles.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Grid Forecaster Picks Cowboys

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Are the Dallas Cowboys riding for a fall?

The Cowboys have won 12 consecutive regular season and playoff games in the National Football League. They go after No. 13 Sunday against the Green Bay Packers, once a nemesis of Dallas teams.

Dallas hasn't been overly impressive in its two victories so far this season. Nevertheless, the Cowboys won—and that's what counts.

The Pack, meanwhile, isn't back—at least not back to the hallowed days of Vince Lombardi. Green Bay is, however, greatly improved over last year. If Scott Hunter stays healthy, the Packers could pull some surprises this season.

Without further delay, except to softly mention that last week's 6-1 showing left the two-week slate at 16-9-1 for .640, here's the latest Fearless Football Forecast:

Dallas 24, Green Bay 17—The Cowboys do seem destined for a fall, but this isn't the week. Or is it? Anyway, the Dallas defense should be the difference.

Minnesota 21, Miami 20—If the game was in Florida, the pick probably would be the other way around. With Fran Tarkenton scrambling for the Vikings and Bob Griese performing for the Dolphins, it should be a dandy game.

Washington 17, New England 10—The Redskins continue to win under the quarterbacking of Billy Kilmer, with Larry Brown grinding out yardage on the ground. The Patriots were upset winners last week. They won't be this time.

Cleveland 31, Cincinnati 28—Look for a minor upset here.

Anderson Favors Bout With Tigers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson said Thursday night that if his team beats Pittsburgh in the playoffs, he would like to face the Detroit Tigers in the World Series.

"All the American League contenders are good teams," said Anderson, "my choice would be to go against any of them, but I'd rather not have to go to the West Coast to play Oakland."

"Detroit and Cincinnati would make a real fine World Series because they are close and the interest would be here" in the Midwest. "And, Billy Martin, the manager, is a personal friend of mine."

But Anderson noted that Pittsburgh is the immediate problem and Cincinnati has five games left in the regular season.

Los Angeles comes here for three games, Friday, Saturday and Sunday and Cincinnati hosts Houston for the final two games.

Anderson seemed irked that the Reds have lost three of four games since clinching the Western Division of the National League last week at Houston.

He was upset that the Atlanta Braves scored 18 runs in sweeping a two-game series here Tuesday and Wednesday, beating starting pitchers Don Gullett and Ross Grimsley.

"They were both hit real hard," he said, "but they still have to figure in my playoff plans."

"Maybe the adrenalin wasn't flowing, but I'll tell you I wanted to win this game," he said after the second loss.

"It's not good to continue to lose when you're headed for the playoffs, because you have to try to get yourself mentally geared up."

"We've got Los Angeles and Houston coming up and we've got to go out there and try to beat them because the one thing we have to try to do is not let our team get into a losing rut."

Kellerman Denies Bengals Got Data On Browns Plays

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati safety Ernie Kellerman said Thursday night that reports the Cincinnati Bengals are picking his brains for the game Sunday against the Cleveland Browns are "pure hogwash."

The Bengals were accused of a similar tactic earlier in the season with quarterback Mike Taliaferro picked up from New England. Taliaferro was cut after the Bengals drubbed the Patriots.

Kellerman, a seven-year pro, was picked up by Cincinnati after he was waived by the Browns.

Kellerman said he has been deluged this week with calls from newsmen asking about reports that the Bengals coaches were "picking my brain" about the Browns.

"That thing with New England was pretty far fetched," Kellerman said, "just because they looked so bad (in losing to Cincinnati), they try to cover up their showing."

Kellerman did say the Bengals "asked me a few questions, about coverages and a few things the Browns do."

"But really, they know as much or more about the Browns than I could tell them, from the scouting reports, that go back years, and the current team reports."

"They've been playing for two years now and teams don't change that much in their tendencies. Whatever contributions I've made are minimal. I might have interjected a few comments."

"Quite frankly," he said, "they haven't asked me anything at all to any extent."

"This all might make great reading, but all that talk is pure hogwash."

Kellerman, who said he wants a chance to play against the Browns, admits "it will be kind of strange going into Cleveland in another uniform. But the adrenalin will flow for that game."

They put eight more points on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter when Scott Willoughby took a 20-yard pass from Merrill and the same combination added the conversion.

The Circleville juniors are now 9-1 for the season and will host Adena 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Big Ten Grid Teams Face Tough Slate

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Ten football teams plunge into another rough round against outside opposition tomorrow, with only three conference clubs favored in a 10-game program.

Already lagging 4-7 in non-league skirmishing, four Big Ten teams will be tangling with foes all rated in The AP's Top Ten.

Michigan State (1-1) meets top-ranked Southern California (3-0) under the lights at Los Angeles. Minnesota's second straight encounter against Big Eight power takes the Gophers to No. 7 Nebraska (2-1).

Still unbeaten Wisconsin (2-0) makes a nocturnal invasion of Louisiana State, ninth-ranked also with a 2-0 record. Winless Purdue (0-2) tries to upset host Notre Dame (1-0), ranked No. 10.

Also underdogs are Illinois (0-2) in a nationally-televised road contest against Sonny Sixkiller-led Washington (3-0); Indiana (1-1) at Kentucky (1-1) and Iowa (1-1) at Penn State (1-1).

Only Big Ten favorites are No. 5-ranked Ohio State (1-0) entertaining North Carolina (3-0); No. 8 Michigan (2-0) as host to Tulane (2-0), and invading Northwestern (0-2) at Pittsburgh (0-3).

Michigan State, upset last week by Georgia Tech 21-16, takes on No. 1 Southern California, a club which has romped over Arkansas, Oregon State and Illinois. The Spartans defeated Illinois 24-0, while the Trojans last Saturday rallied to rout the Illini 55-2.

Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty admitted Southern California "deserves all the nice things" said about them, they have great personnel and have put together a happy blend of running and passing. But if we can control the ball, we'll be in it."

Super Bowl Favored In Yonkers Futurity

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Hambletonian winner Super Bowl is favored in the second leg of trotting's Triple Crown when he faces four other horses tonight in the $93,097.50 Yonkers Futurity Trot at Yonkers Raceway.

Winner of his last 12 starts, the 3-year-old colt has earned $295,594 this season for trainer-driver Stanley Dancer and is a 3-5 choice in the morning line. His 1:56.2 victory in a one-mile heat of the Hambletonian—the Triple Crown's first leg—was the fastest ever recorded by a 3-year-old over a mile track.

Viking Juniors Blank Hamilton

Teays Valley's Junior High gridders ran their season record to 2-0 with a 6-0 win over Hamilton Twp. Thursday on the Vikings' field.

The only score of the game came in the second quarter when Miles Glover smashed his way into the endzone from the one-yard line.

The stout Vikings defense was led by Jerry Daniels, Lance Rose and Dennis Werner.

Teays Valley will play again Thursday at McDowell Junior High.

McDowell Jr. High Plays Scoreless Tie

McDowell and Fairfield Union battled to a 0-0 tie in junior high action Thursday at Logan Elm.

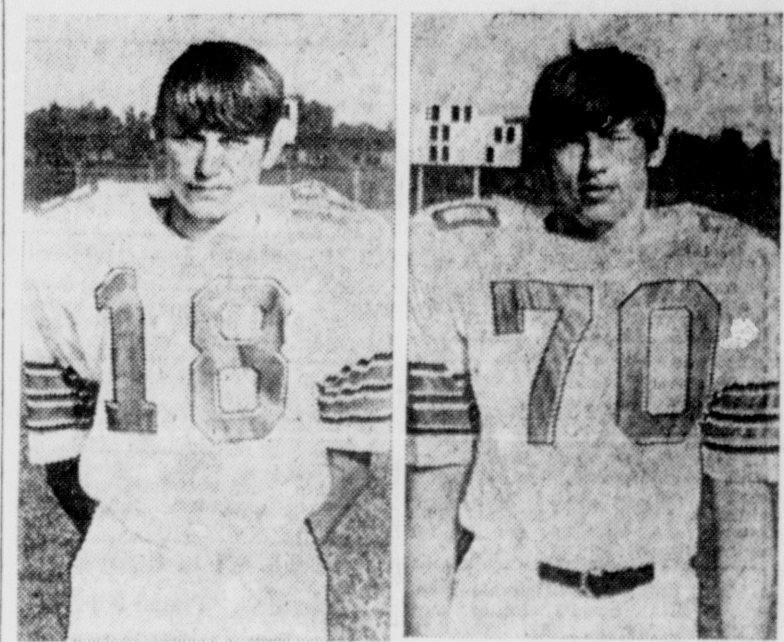

McDowell coaches Harry Hoffer and Doyne Wiggins felt their team showed much improvement over the opening loss. The record now stands at 0-1-1.

Singled out for their defensive play were middle guard John Payne and inside linebacker Tim Justus.

POWs Home...

Gartley's mother, Mrs. Minnie Lee Gartley, broke down aboard the airplane when she failed to convince a Defense Department officer to let her take her son on a prearranged vacation.

"I didn't cry when you told me four years ago that my son had been captured in Vietnam, and I haven't cried since until tonight," she told the officer, Roger Shields.

"Your son is also an officer in the U.S. Navy," Shields interjected. He also told her that Gartley was being promoted to full lieutenant.

"I just wanted a few days of freedom for him," she said. "Freedom from the military, freedom from the press, freedom from the North Vietnamese — just a few days to be alone with Jerry (his father) and me."

In a related development, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was quoted as telling families of POW-MIAs in Fort Worth, Tex., that "negotiations with North Vietnam are more serious now than they have ever been." The Fort Worth Star Telegram reported.

Laird met the families at a closed-door meeting. The newspaper said it talked with several wives of POW-MIAs who said Laird told them the release of men previously unidentified and that identification of those who are missing will be the toughest part of peace talks. He reportedly said, "Known POWs will be the first out."

The question of whether the three released POWs would wear their uniforms apparently was settled aboard the Scandinavian Airlines System 747 jetliner en route to New York. The men were said to have voted on whether to don the uniforms, which had been given them in Moscow. They did so about 90 minutes out from New York City.

Delinger, said Defense Department officials led the men to different parts of the plane to put the uniforms on.

"It's quite clear the Pentagon and State Department want men released only if they are in uniform and speaking their lines," said the Rev. Mr. Coffi.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in New York, "We are pleased that the prisoners of war are back in the United States and we hope very soon that all the prisoners will be returned."

In Los Angeles, the chairman of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia criticized the peace group chaplains for "using our loved ones as propaganda." Mrs. Stephen Hanson called the release a token and political one and said "you must remember that over a thousand families are not even told whether or not their sons, fathers, husbands, or brothers are even alive."

Even before their return home, the men were involved in presidential election politics.

Speaking of the method of their release, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said, "They are just exploiting these people for their own propaganda aims." But Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern charged that President Nixon, "is afraid these prisoners will tell the awful truth about the war."

The three declined throughout their journey to endorse a presidential candidate. The most politically oriented statement was made by Charles in Copenhagen. "It was my belief and the belief of the men with whom I lived in Hanoi that if the war is terminated their return home will be certain. I have committed myself to do everything in my power to work for their return home," he said on Thursday.

Said Gartley: "What is clear to me is that the men who are still there must come home and whichever policy is the one that can bring them home is the one I can support the most."

Elias said he wanted to do more reading on the issues before stating his opinion.

On his arrival in Alabama, Elias received a brief military welcome at Maxwell Air Force Base before being taken to a base hospital. The base was chosen because Elias' residence is at nearby Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Ga.

A base spokesman said Elias will have his choice of assignments, except a return to combat, prohibited by the Geneva accords.

Gartley was admitted to St. Albans Naval Hospital for a medical examination, acting on a request from military authorities.

Charles attended a 90-minute reunion party with relatives in New York City prior to departing for San Diego.

Although mining once played an extraordinary role in Colorado's finances, as a profession it now occupies less than 2 per cent of the state's work force.

Community Fund Benefits New Scouting Program

An improved Scouting program for Boy Scouts and Cubs in Pickaway County will benefit from the Community Fund Drive.

The Boy Scout program is one of the participating agencies in the fund drive.

Scouting has changed this year, according to Wally Yamarick, 356 Markley Road, Pickaway District chairman.

"After more than 60 years, Scouting looked at its strengths and weaknesses and found that it had to develop a program that could be implemented within its regular organization but that would be sensitive to the real needs of boys wherever they lived," he explains.

"Scouting found three major areas of concern," Yamarick continued. "They were relevant advancement, greater boy involvement, and a program for older boys in the troop."

The improved scouting program now offers to all Scouts an optional route through scouting advancement skills, the involvement of boys in the decision making process, opportunities for boys to have a say in what they do in scouting and a program for older scouts to do a better job of developing leaders for tomorrow.

Boys who were Scouts before September 1, have the option to continue under the previous advancement plan until Dec. 31.

New Scouts begin with the improved plan immediately.

When Yamarick talks about the purpose of Scouting, he says, "We want to provide for boys an effective program that will build desirable qualities of character, to train them in responsibilities of participating citizenship and to develop them in personal fitness. We feel that the improved scouting program will help develop citizens who have the skills, attitudes and knowledge required for adults in the years ahead."

Yamarick points out that even though a number of changes have been made, Scouting still keeps its traditional strengths of the unique patrol method, the valuable boy-man relationship, the program of fun and adventure and the ideals of scouting.

Rep. Celler Will Bow Out Of Politics; Lost Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 50 years in Congress, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., is bowing out, declining a last chance to reverse his defeat in a primary election last June.

The 84-year-old Brooklyn-born dean of the House said Thursday that he will not campaign for re-election, even though his name will be on the ballot in November as the nominee of the Liberal party.

Celler offered his congratulations to Elizabeth Holtzman, the 30-year-old lawyer who produced the thin-margin upset in the Democratic primary. In the heavily Democratic district, her election Nov. 7 is assured.

Only one man, retired Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, served longer in the House than Celler. Vinson topped Celler's 50 years by two months.

Celler's departure when the 92nd Congress adjourns will end one of the most remarkable careers in the history of the House of Representatives. The civil-rights, antitrust and immigration laws for which he was largely responsible have changed the course of the nation.

Four constitutional amendments are among the 300 bills he guided through the House, most of them in his capacity as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, a position he has held for a record 22 years.

Sitting in his office after Thursday's announcement, Celler said he is planning to resume the active practice of law, to teach in a new college in New York City, and to continue activities on behalf of Israeli and Jewish charities.

2 Men Indicted In Campus Blast At Bowling Green

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Charles Hoag, 21, of Wood County, and Richard Coker, 21, of Napoleon, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges stemming from the bombing of a Bowling Green State University campus laboratory and two buildings in Bowling Green in May.

The two were indicted on charges of destroying federal property and possession of unregistered destructive devices.

The bombings, which followed the U.S. decision to mine North Vietnamese harbors, damaged a lab in Overman Hall, a National Guard truck and the Bowling Green Municipal Building.

Neither of those indicted was a Bowling Green student.

No Drug Indictments Returned By Jury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special federal grand jury, impaneled Tuesday to hear testimony about narcotics traffic in Central Ohio, adjourned Wednesday without returning any indictments, officials said.

Information presented to the U.S. District Court panel was collected by area officers of the Office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement.

OSU Prexy Ponders Fate Of Dormitory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What do you do with a 24-story white elephant?

Ohio State University President Harold Einarson was expected to provide an answer today by recommending a use for the five-year-old Lincoln Tower dormitory, which is standing empty.

The dormitory has a capacity of 1,380 persons, but because of declining enrollment and a lack of student interest in campus housing, the university does not have enough students to fill it.

The university, nevertheless, must pay $428,000 this year on the principal and interest of bonds issued to build the structure.

A companion dorm built at the same time, Morrill Tower, is in operation this quarter.

A spokesman for the university said Einarson's recommendation will be made for the board of trustees, which meets Oct. 13. He declined to say what the recommendation will be, but added the dormitory "will receive extensive study over the next year."

Addressing a Republican gathering at nearby Salt Fork Lodge, Dole said Kennedy has written letters to "hundreds of thousands of McGovern's little people" asking them to contribute $5 to the campaign.

"But he hasn't yet contributed five cents of his own," Dole said.

"Does he know what we all know?" Dole asked. "That a contribution to the McGovern campaign is as wasted as a vote for the McGovern candidacy."

Dole suggested a failure by Kennedy to contribute financially to the ticket would indicate he prefers "to save his ample funds for a race of his own in 1976."

Dole accused McGovern of "flip-flopping" on issues, mentioning the Vietnam war, tax reform and welfare. And he criticized McGovern's Senate attendance record, saying he was present only 27 per cent of the time.

Social Science Teachers Attend Ecology Confab

Social Science teachers participated in the 7th Annual Franklin County Conservation Workshop September 26 at the Farm Science Review Site.

Teachers attending were: John Karg, Teays Valley Physics Teacher; Dale Allen, Teays Valley Biology; Stan Dixon, Teays Valley, 7th grade Science; Rita Tolcin, Teays Valley, 8th grade Science and William Brooke, Circleville High School, Biology.
